Forecast for Wednesday 29 Jun 2022

Weather: A mixture of bright or sunny intervals and showers, some heavy with the outside chance of thunder over eastern fells. The showers will become fewer and further between from mid afternoon with some longer sunny periods developing. A mainly dry evening before the shower risk increases towards midnight.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: 40% at first rising more than 90% from mid morning.

Low cloud and visibility: Some cloud down to 600m at first in the morning especially over southern fells with poor visibility on the tops then cloud lifting above the summits from mid morning. Generally good visibility underneath but reducing to a few kilometres in any heavier showers. Very good visibility from mid afternoon.
